p class="p1"Eleven was sitting in her room. She was tired. There was a knock on her door. "Hey Elle! Can I come in?" Mike asked from behind the door. "Mike. Yes. Please come in." She said quietly but loud enough for him to hear it. He opened the door. "Hey Elle I just wanna ask you something." Mike said. "Of course Mike. What is it?" She asked. In a split second he kissed her on the lips. She closed her eyes. He backed away. "M-Mike." She said. He looked in her eyes. "How was that?" He asked "I'm going on a date tonight and I was gonna kiss her so I needed to practice with someone I trust." He finished. She looked down. Why can't it ever be real? she thought. "It was...good, amazing, actually. You're gonna be fine Mike." She said trying not to sound too disappointed. Mike looked at his watch, "Oh crap, I'm gonna be late! Thanks Elle!" He said as he ran out the door. "Bye Mike." She said. He was gone though. The front door was knocked. She got up. It had been a long time since she used her power. She wanted to be normal, so she suppressed her unique ability. At times she wanted to use it, but Mike, Lucas, Dustin and Will helped her not to. She opened the door. "Hey Eleven!" Dustin said with his funny ear-to-ear grin. "Hi." She said. Dustin's grin subsided. "What's wrong Eleven?" He asked. She started to cry "Mike kissed me this morning and I wanted it to be real but it wasn't and I just love him so much!" She shouted. Dustin looked puzzled. He knew they had feelings for each other when he saw them kiss at the Snow Ball a few years ago and thought they would make it real. He was a little disappointed in Mike actually. "I-I'm so sorry Elle, I hope you work it out." He said trying his very best to comfort her. She wiped her tears. She perked back up. "Thank you Dustin." She said. He nodded and grinned again "Hey you wanna watch a movie?" He asked. She nodded./p
